About Cambridge ESOL

Cambridge English: Key is developed by University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations (Cambridge ESOL), a not-for-profit department of the University of Cambridge.

Cambridge ESOL is one of three major exam boards which form the Cambridge Assessment Group (Cambridge Assessment). More than 8 million Cambridge Assessment exams are taken in over 160 countries around the world every year.

Cambridge ESOL offers the world’s leading range of qualifications for learners and teachers of English. Over 3.5 million people take our exams each year in 130 countries.

Cambridge ESOL offers assessments across the full spectrum of language ability. We provide examinations for general communication, for professional and academic purposes and also specialist legal and financial English qualifications. All of our exams are aligned to the principles and approach of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

To find out more about Cambridge English exams and the CEFR, go to www.CambridgeESOL.org/CEFR

In addition to our own programmes of world-leading research, we work closely with professional bodies, industry professionals and governments to ensure that our exams remain fair and relevant to candidates of all backgrounds and to a wide range of stakeholders.

Key features of Cambridge English exams

Cambridge English exams:

• are based on realistic tasks and situations so that preparing for their exam gives learners real-life language skills
• accurately and consistently test all four language skills – reading, writing, listening and speaking – as well as knowledge of language structure and its use
• encourage positive learning experiences, and seek to achieve a positive impact on teaching wherever possible
• are as fair as possible to all candidates, whatever their national, ethnic and linguistic background, gender or disability.

Proven quality

Cambridge ESOL’s commitment to providing exams of the highest possible quality is underpinned by an extensive programme of research and evaluation, and by continuous monitoring of the marking and grading of all Cambridge English exams. Of particular importance are the rigorous procedures which are used in the production and pretesting of question papers.

All systems and processes for designing, developing and delivering exams and assessment services are certified as meeting the internationally recognised ISO 9001:2008 standard for quality management and are designed around five essential principles:

Validity – are our exams an authentic test of real-life English?
Reliability – do our exams behave consistently and fairly?
Impact – does our assessment have a positive effect on teaching and learning?
Practicality – does our assessment meet learners’ needs within available resources?
Quality – how we plan, deliver and check that we provide excellence in all of these fields.

How these qualities are brought together is outlined in our publication Principles of Good Practice, which can be downloaded free from www.CambridgeESOL.org/Principles
Introduction to Cambridge English: Key

Cambridge English: Key is a qualification at pre-intermediate level. It demonstrates that a person can use English to communicate in simple situations and has achieved a good foundation in learning English.

Candidates can choose to take Cambridge English: Key as either a paper-based or computer-based exam.

Cambridge English: Key for Schools, a version of Cambridge English: Key with exam content and topics targeted at the interests and experience of school age learners, is also available.

Who is the exam for?

Cambridge English: Key is aimed at learners who want to:
- understand and use basic phrases and expressions
- introduce themselves and answer basic questions about personal details
- interact with English speakers who talk slowly and clearly
- write short, simple notes.

Who recognises the exam?

- Cambridge English: Key is a truly international certificate, recognised around the world for business and study purposes.
- Thousands of employers, universities and government departments officially recognise Cambridge English: Key as a basic qualification in English.
- The exam has been accredited by Ofqual, the statutory regulatory authority for external qualifications in England, and its counterparts in Wales and Northern Ireland.

For more information about recognition go to www.CambridgeESOL.org/recognition

What level is the exam?

Cambridge English: Key is targeted at Level A2 of the CEFR. Achieving a certificate at this level proves that a person can use English to communicate in simple situations.

What can candidates do at Level A2?

The Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE) has carried out research to determine what language learners can typically do at each CEFR level. It has described these abilities in a series of Can Do statements using examples taken from real-life situations.

Cambridge ESOL, as one of the founding members of ALTE, uses this framework as a way of ensuring its exams reflect real-life language skills.

Exam content and processing

Cambridge English: Key is a rigorous and thorough test of English at Level A2. It covers all four language skills – reading, writing, listening and speaking. Preparing for Cambridge English: Key helps candidates develop the skills they need to use English to communicate effectively in a variety of practical contexts.

A thorough test of all areas of language ability

There are three papers: Reading and Writing, Listening and Speaking. The Reading and Writing paper carries 50% of the total marks, the Listening paper and the Speaking paper each carry 25% of the total marks. Detailed information on each test and sample papers follow later in this handbook, but the overall focus of each test is as follows:

Reading and Writing: 1 hour 10 minutes

Candidates need to be able to understand simple written information such as signs, brochures, newspapers and magazines. They must also be able to produce simple written English.

Listening: 30 minutes (approximately)

Candidates need to be able to understand announcements and other spoken material when people speak reasonably slowly.

Speaking: up to 10 minutes

Candidates take the Speaking test with another candidate or in a group of three, and are tested on their ability to take part in different types of interaction: with the examiner, with the other candidate and by themselves.
Each of these three test components provides a unique contribution to a profile of overall communicative language ability that defines what a candidate can do at this level.

Language specifications

Candidates who are successful in Cambridge English: Key should be able to satisfy their basic communicative needs in a range of everyday situations with both native and non-native speakers of English.

The following is a summary of the language which is tested in Cambridge English: Key. In terms of vocabulary and grammatical structure, Cambridge English: Key candidates will have productive control of only the simplest of exponents for each category below; there is a wider, but still limited, range that they will be able to deal with receptively; and they will have strategies for coping with the unfamiliar.

Lexis

The Cambridge English: Key Vocabulary List includes items which normally occur in the everyday vocabulary of native speakers using English today.

Candidates should know the lexis appropriate to their personal requirements, for example, nationalities, hobbies, likes and dislikes.

Note that the use of American pronunciation, spelling and lexis is acceptable in Cambridge English: Key.

A list of vocabulary that may appear in the Cambridge English: Key examination is available from the Cambridge ESOL Teacher Support website: www.teachers.CambridgeESOL.org

The list does not provide an exhaustive register of all the words which could appear in Cambridge English: Key question papers and candidates should not confine their study of vocabulary to the list alone.

International English

English is used in a wide range of international contexts. To reflect this, candidates’ responses to tasks in Cambridge English exams are acceptable in all varieties and accents of English, provided they do not interfere with communication. Materials used feature a range of accents and texts from English-speaking countries, including the UK, North America and Australia. US and other versions of spelling are accepted if used consistently.

Marks and results

Cambridge English: Key gives detailed, meaningful results. All candidates receive a Statement of Results. Candidates whose performance ranges between CEFR Levels A1 and B1 also receive a certificate.

Statement of Results

This Statement of Results outlines:

- the candidate’s result. This is based on a candidate’s total score in all three papers.
- a graphical display of a candidate’s performance in each paper (shown against the scale Exceptional – Good – Borderline – Weak).
- a standardised score out of 100 which allows a candidate to see exactly how they performed.

Certificates

We have made enhancements to the way we report the results of our exams because we believe it is important to recognise candidates’ achievements.

Cambridge English: Key - Level B1

Pass with Distinction

Exceptional candidates sometimes show ability beyond Level A2. If a candidate achieves a Pass with Distinction, they will receive the Key English Test certificate stating that they demonstrated ability at Level B1.

Cambridge English: Key - Level A2

If a candidate achieves Pass with Merit or Pass in the exam, they will be awarded the Key English Test certificate at Level A2.

Level A1 Certificate

If a candidate’s performance is below Level A2, but falls within Level A1, they will receive a Cambridge English certificate stating that they demonstrated ability at A1 level.

Special circumstances

Cambridge English exams are designed to be fair to all test takers. This commitment to fairness covers:

- Special arrangements
  These are available for candidates with a permanent or long-term disability. Consult the Cambridge ESOL Centre Exams Manager (CEM) in your area for more details as soon as you become aware of a candidate who may need special arrangements.

- Special consideration
  Cambridge ESOL will give special consideration to candidates affected by adverse circumstances such as illness or bereavement immediately before or during an exam. Applications for special consideration must be made through the centre no later than 10 working days after the exam date.

- Malpractice
  Cambridge ESOL will investigate all cases where candidates are suspected of copying, collusion or breaking the exam regulations in some other way. Results may be withheld while they are being investigated, or because we have found an infringement of regulations. Centres are notified if a candidate’s results have been investigated.

Preparation

General

- The Reading and Writing part of the test takes 1 hour and 10 minutes with a total of 56 questions. Candidates have a question paper and a separate answer sheet on which they record their answers. Efforts are made to keep the language of instructions to candidates as simple as possible, and a worked example is given in Parts 1–8 of the test.

- Reading texts are authentic texts, adapted where necessary so that most of the vocabulary and grammatical structures are accessible to students at this level. However, candidates are expected to be able to make use of interpretation strategies if they encounter unfamiliar lexis or structures.

- Candidates do not need to follow a specific course before attempting Cambridge English: Key. Any general English course for beginners of approximately 200 learning hours which develops reading and writing skills alongside instruction in grammar and vocabulary will be suitable.

- In addition to coursebook reading texts, teachers are advised to give their students every opportunity to read the type of English used in everyday life, for example, short newspaper and magazine articles, advertisements, tourist brochures, instructions, recipes, etc. In dealing with this real-life material, students should be encouraged to develop reading strategies to compensate for their limited linguistic resources, such as the ability to guess unfamiliar words, and the ability to extract the main message from a text. A class library consisting of English language magazines and simplified readers on subjects of interest to students will be a valuable resource.

- Students should also be encouraged to take advantage of real-life occasions for writing short messages to each other and their teacher. They can, for example, write invitations, arrangements for meeting, apologies for missing a class, or notices about lost property. Here the emphasis should be on the successful communication of the intended message, though errors of structure, vocabulary, spelling and punctuation should not be ignored.

- To ensure that candidates fully understand what they will have to do in the Reading and Writing paper, it is advisable for them to become familiar in advance with the different types of test tasks. They should also make sure that they understand how to record their answers on the answer sheet (page 21).

By part

Parts 1–5 focus particularly on reading.

PART 1

- In Part 1, candidates are tested on their ability to understand the main message of a sign, notice or other very short text. These texts are of the type usually found on roads, in railway stations, airports, shops, restaurants, offices, schools, etc. Wherever possible these texts are authentic and so may contain lexis which is unfamiliar to the candidates, but this should not prevent them from understanding the main message. This is a matching question, requiring candidates to match five sentences to the appropriate sign or notice.

PART 2

- In Part 2, candidates are tested on their knowledge of vocabulary. They are asked to fill the gap in each of five sentences with one of the three options provided. There is a completed example sentence at the beginning. The six sentences are all on the same topic or are linked by a simple story line. Candidates should deal with each sentence individually but be aware that the overall context will help them find the correct answer.

PART 3

- In Part 3, candidates are tested on their ability to understand the language of the routine transactions of daily life.

- Questions 11–15 are multiple choice (three options). Candidates are asked to complete five 2-line conversational exchanges.

- Questions 16–20 are matching questions. Candidates are asked to complete a longer dialogue, by choosing from a list of eight options. These dialogues take place in shops, hotels, restaurants, etc., and in various work, study and social situations.

PART 4

- In Part 4, candidates are tested on their ability to understand the main ideas and some details of longer texts. These texts come from authentic sources, such as newspaper and magazine articles, but are adapted to make them accessible to candidates. Texts may include vocabulary which is unfamiliar to the candidates, but this should not interfere with their ability to complete the task.

- The questions in this part may be multiple-choice comprehension questions (with three options) or alternatively, candidates may be asked to decide whether, according to the text, each one of a set of statements is correct or incorrect, or whether there is insufficient information in the text to decide this.

PART 5

- In Part 5, candidates are tested on their knowledge of grammatical structure and usage in the context of a reading text. As with Part 4, texts are adapted from newspaper and magazine articles, encyclopaedias and other authentic sources. Words are deleted from the text and candidates are asked to complete the text by choosing the appropriate word from three options. Deletions mainly focus on structural elements, such as verb forms, determiners, pronouns, prepositions and conjunctions. Understanding of structural relationships at the phrase, clause, sentence or paragraph level is also required.

Parts 6–9 focus particularly on writing.

PART 6

- In Part 6, candidates are asked to produce five items of vocabulary and to spell them correctly. The five items of vocabulary will all belong to the same lexical field, for example, jobs, food, things you can find in a house, etc. For each word they have to write, candidates are given a ‘definition’ of the type you can find in a learner’s dictionary, followed by the first letter of the required word and a set of dashes to represent the number of remaining letters in the required word. There is a worked example at the beginning.
PART 7

• In Part 7, candidates are asked to complete a gapped text. Texts are short and simple and are of the type candidates at this level may be expected to write, for example, notes, emails and short letters. A text may take the form of a note plus a reply to that note, or may be a single letter. Deletions in the text focus on grammatical structure and vocabulary. Candidates are only asked to produce words which students at this level can be expected to actively use. Correct spelling of the missing words is essential in this part.

PART 8

• In Part 8, candidates complete a simple information transfer task. They are asked to use the information in one or two short texts (email, advertisement, note, etc.) to complete a note, form, diary entry or other similar type of document. Candidates have to understand the texts in order to complete the task, and the focus is on both writing and reading ability. Candidates are expected to understand the vocabulary commonly associated with forms, for example, name, date, time, cost, etc. The required written production is at word and phrase level, not sentence. Correct spelling is essential in this part.

PART 9

• In Part 9, candidates are given the opportunity to show that they can communicate a written message (25–35 words) of an authentic type, for example a note, email or postcard to a friend. The instructions indicate the type of message required, who it is for and what kind of information should be included. Candidates must respond to the prompts given. All three prompts must be addressed in order to complete the task fully. Alternatively, the candidates may be asked to read and respond appropriately to three elements contained within a short note, email or postcard from a friend.

• In order to help teachers assess the standards required, there are several sample answers to the Writing Part 9 question on page 20, with marks and examiner comments.

Round the World

Jonathan and Claire Spencer both had very busy jobs and didn’t have enough time to spend with their young children. They wanted to change this and, because their hobby was boats, they decided to sail round the world together.

It took six years to prepare everything for the trip. First, they bought a new boat. Then, both adults had to take advanced sailing lessons and learn all about the sea and the weather. Jonathan also did several courses in repairing engines and Claire spent an hour in a restaurant, learning to cut fish.

In October, they took a one-year break from their jobs and sailed away from England with their two children. The next year, in August, their long journey ended in Australia. The boat was quite small, but Jonathan and Claire took a teacher for the children with them. None of them found the trip boring because there were three computers, many CDs, a television and a DVD player on the boat.

The family loved being at sea and seeing the stars in the sky. But, most of all, Jonathan and Claire enjoyed spending time with their children while they were still young.

Assessment of Writing Part 9

- There are 5 marks for Part 9. Candidates at this level are not expected to produce faultless English, but to achieve 5 marks a candidate should write a cohesive message, which successfully communicates all three parts of the message, with only minor grammar and spelling errors. A great variety of fully acceptable answers is possible.

Candidates are penalised for not writing the minimum number of words (i.e. fewer than 25). They are not penalised for writing too much, though they are not advised to do so. Candidates also need to think carefully about who the target reader is for each task and try to write in an appropriate style. It is important to write clearly so that the answers are easy to read. However, it is not important if candidates write in upper or lower case, or if their writing is joined up or not.

Preparation

General

• The Listening paper is divided into five parts with a total of 25 questions. The texts are written or adapted by item writers specifically for the test and recorded in a studio to simulate real spoken language. The listening texts are recorded on CD, and each text is heard twice. There are pauses for candidates to look at the questions and to write their answers. The instructions to the candidates on the recording are the same as the instructions on the question paper. Candidates write their answers on the question paper as they listen, and they are then given 8 minutes at the end of the test to transfer these answers to an answer sheet. The complete Listening test, including time for the transfer of answers, takes about 30 minutes.

• Listening is a language skill which should be practised from the early stages of learning English.

• The teacher’s first resource is the listening material included in the coursebook. These listening tasks should be made use of regularly in order to build up the confidence which comes from listening to a variety of speakers talking about a range of topics. A major advantage of using recorded material is that teacher and students are in control of the number of times a particular listening text is played, which should be varied. Sometimes students will need several repeats before they are able to extract the information required by a particular listening task, but at other times they should try to see how much they can understand after just one hearing.

• In addition to making regular use of coursebook materials, teachers should take every opportunity to maximise students’ exposure to authentic spoken English. Even with beginner level students, English should be used as much as possible as the language of classroom management. Thus from an early stage students become used to following instructions in English and to extracting relevant information from spoken discourse.

• Other sources of authentic listening material include: films, television, videos and DVDs, songs, the internet, British Embassies and Consulates, the British Council, language schools, clubs, hotels, youth hostels, airports, teachers of English and any other speakers of English, such as tourists, tourist guides, friends and family.

• In listening to real-life spoken English, students should be encouraged to develop listening strategies such as picking out important information from redundant material, and deducing meaning from context by focusing on important key words and ignoring unimportant or unfamiliar terms.

• Students should also become familiar with the task types in the Cambridge English: Key Listening paper, and make sure they know how to record their answers on the answer sheet (page 29).

• Candidates should tell the supervisor of the Listening test as soon as possible if they have difficulty hearing the recording. It is important to let the supervisor know this at the beginning of the recording before the Listening test begins properly.

By part

PART 1

• In Part 1, candidates are tested on their ability to identify simple factual information in five separate short conversational exchanges. The short conversations are either between friends or relatives, or between a member of the public and a shop assistant, booking office clerk, etc. The information focused on in these dialogues is, for example, prices, numbers, times, dates, locations, directions, shapes, sizes, weather, descriptions of people and current actions.

• On the question paper, the candidates see a simple question and three multiple-choice options based on pictures. There are five questions in Part 1.

PART 2

• In Part 2, candidates are tested on their ability to identify simple factual information in a longer conversation. The conversation is an informal one between two people who know each other. The topic will be one of personal interest to the speakers, for example, daily life, travel, occupational activities, free-time activities, etc.

• Candidates show their understanding of the conversation by matching two lists of items, for example, people with the food they like to eat, or days of the week with activities.

PART 3

• In Part 3, candidates are also tested on their ability to identify simple factual information. The listening text is usually an informal conversation between two people who know each other about a topic of personal interest to the speakers. It is sometimes a transactional exchange, e.g. a person making enquiries in a travel agent’s.

• In this part, candidates show their understanding of the conversation by answering five multiple-choice questions, each with three options.

PARTS 4 AND 5

• In Parts 4 and 5, candidates are tested on their ability to extract specific factual information from a dialogue or monologue and write it down. The dialogue or monologue is in a neutral context, for example, in shops, offices, etc. A monologue may be a recorded message. The information to be extracted is of a practical nature, for example, opening times, entrance fees, etc.

• Candidates are asked to complete a memo, message or notes by extracting information from the listening text and writing it down. Information to be written down consists of numbers, times, dates, prices, spellings and words. In each case, candidates are required to write down one or two words or numbers. Completely accurate spelling is not required, except where a name has been spelled out in the listening text or when it is a simple high-frequency word.

This is the Cambridge Key English Test Listening Sample Paper. There are five parts to the test. Parts One, Two, Three, Four and Five.

We will now stop for a moment before we start the test. Please ask any questions now because you must NOT speak during the test.

Now look at the instructions for Part One.

You will hear five short conversations.

You will hear each conversation twice.

There is one question for each conversation.

For questions 1 - 5, put a tick under the right answer.

Here is an example:

How many people were at the meeting?
Woman: Were there many people at the meeting?
Man: About thirty.
Woman: That’s not many.
Man: No, but more than last time.
The answer is 30, so there is a tick in box C.

Now we are ready to start.

Look at question one.

1 What’s Jill’s favourite food?
Man: You like sweet food, don’t you, Jill?
Jill: Well, yes, but I really like apples and oranges and things like that best.
Man: Don’t you love cream cakes and chocolate?
Jill: They make me feel rather ill if I eat too much.

Now listen again.

2 What time will Barry phone back?
Barry: Hello, this is Barry. Can I speak to Linda please?
Woman: Sorry, she’s not here. She’ll be back at five o’clock.
Barry: Is it OK if I call at six because my music class doesn’t finish until five thirty?
Woman: Yes, that will be fine.

Now listen again.

3 What was the weather like last weekend?
Man: Hi, Anne. What’s happened to your umbrella? Was it the wind?
Anne: Yes, and I got wet this morning in the rain.
Man: The weather’s really changed, hasn’t it? At the weekend I sat in the sun all day.
Anne: Yes, it’s good it didn’t rain then.

Now listen again.

4 Where are they going to meet?
Shirley: Hi, John. It’s Shirley. I’m at the Aroma Café. Can you come and meet me here?
John: Is that the café near the post-office?
Shirley: It’s the one near the station. Look, I’ll walk to the post-office, you know where that is – so wait for me there.
John: Fine.

Now listen again.

5 What’s still in the car?
Woman: Have you left anything outside in the car?
Man: I think I brought everything inside. My coat, your bag, and you’ve got the map, haven’t you?
Woman: No, I didn’t see it – was it on the back seat?
Man: Yes, I’ll go and get it.

Now listen again.

This is the end of Part One.

Now look at Part Two.

Listen to Sam talking to Jenny about his birthday presents.

Which present did each person give him?
For questions 6 – 10, write a letter A – H next to each person.
You will hear the conversation twice.

Sam: Hello, Jenny. Is that for me?
Jenny: Yes, Sam. Happy Birthday. I’m sure you can see it’s a CD!
Have you had lots of nice presents?
Sam: Yeah. My parents wanted to get me a new sweater, but I asked them for a computer game instead, and they agreed.

Jenny: And I suppose your brother bought you chocolate again?
Sam: Actually, he found a really interesting book on football for me.

Jenny: That’s good. And what about your sister? Last year, she bought you that sweater you’re wearing, didn’t she?
Sam: Yes. Look, she bought me this brown belt. It’s Italian leather. I’m sure it cost a lot of money.

Jenny: Lovely. Did your aunt remember to give you something?
Sam: She sent me a cheque for twenty pounds. I may buy some CDs with it.

Jenny: And what about your cousin?
Sam: Well, he hasn’t got much money but he gave me some of my favourite chocolate. We can eat it when we watch the football on TV.

Jenny: Great.

Now listen again.

This is the end of Part Two.
Listen to James talking to a friend about a new music club.

For questions 11 – 15, tick A, B or C.

You will hear the conversation twice.

Look at questions 11 – 15 now. You have twenty seconds.

Now listen to the conversation.

James: You know that new music club - well, I’ve been there.
Woman: Oh yes, James. Is it near the university?
James: No, it’s in Park Street, next to the cinema.
Woman: Oh, I know - aren’t they still building it?
James: Yes, but it’s been open for four weeks now. When I was there yesterday, they said the work will finish this week.
Woman: Was the music good?
James: Well it wasn’t fast enough for me or my friends, but some people who were dancing were excellent. I loved watching them.
Woman: Can you wear jeans there?
James: There’s a notice saying ‘no sports shoes’, but jeans and t-shirts are fine.
Woman: How much was it to get in?
James: Usually a ticket costs ten pounds, but I paid less because the first time you go it’s only seven pounds fifty. And I can get in for five pounds next time if I bring a friend.
Woman: I’ll come. What time does it close?
James: I left at twelve when the band finished playing. After that there’s a disco until two a.m. So not as late as some clubs which don’t close until five.

Now listen again.

This is the end of Part Three.

Now look at Part Four

Listen to a man telephoning the Tourist Information Centre in Windfield.

For questions 16-20, tick A, B or C.

You will hear the conversation twice.

Woman: Hello, Windfield Tourist Information. How can I help?
Man: Hello. I’m hoping to come to Windfield for a few days and I’d like some information about places to stay. I’m looking for somewhere in the centre.
Woman: There’s the Mill Hotel. That’s at 24 Harvest Road - that’s H A R V E S T. It’s in the centre.
Man: Do you know how much a room is? I don’t want to pay more than thirty pounds.

Woman: The rooms for one person are twenty-eight pounds per night and the double rooms are thirty-two pounds.

Man: That’s fine. Do you have the phone number?
Woman: It’s 7 2 0 4 3 3. You can phone them any time.

Man: I’d also like to know something about interesting places to see in Windfield.
Woman: Well, there’s the Windfield Museum, and of course there’s the castle. It’s over five hundred years old. They’re both quite close to the hotel.

Man: And are they open every day?
Woman: You can’t visit the museum on Mondays, and the castle is only open on Saturdays and Sundays.

Man: Thank you. That’s a great help. Goodbye.
Woman: Goodbye.

Now listen again.

This is the end of Part Four.

You will hear some information about a food market.

Listen and complete questions 21 – 25.

You will hear the information twice.

Man: This is some information for shoppers at Elwood Food Market. There are three large food halls here.

Turn left at the entrance for Hall 1. Here you can buy many different vegetables. Choose the vegetables yourself. Use the plastic bags and then pay for everything at the cash desk. This hall also has very good fish. It all comes here straight from the sea.

In Hall 2, you can find lovely cakes and bread. And next to this hall there is a café. You can get sandwiches, snacks and drinks all day in the café, and a hot breakfast until 11.30. Hall 3 is the biggest hall and sells cheese, eggs and meat. In this hall there is also a special Italian shop. You can buy different pasta and they make pizza daily. At 55p a piece, it’s not expensive. Children will love our new playroom. It’s at the end of the hall next to the telephones. You can leave them there safely when you shop.

Happy shopping!

Now listen again.

This is the end of Part Five.

You now have eight minutes to write your answers on the answer sheet.

You have one more minute.

This is the end of the test.

Preparation

General

- The Speaking test has two parts and lasts 8 to 10 minutes, involving two examiners and a pair of candidates. One examiner is an interlocutor while the other, who takes no part in the interaction, is an assessor. The Speaking component contributes 25% of the marks for the whole test.

- It is important that the speaking skill is developed alongside the other language skills. This may best be done by making English the language of classroom management, and by encouraging students to communicate with each other and with the teacher in English.

- Candidates should be able to respond appropriately to questions asking for simple information about themselves. They should, for example, be able to give their name (including spelling it), country of origin, job or subject of study; give information about their family, home town, school, free-time activities and talk simply about their likes and dislikes.

- Simple role plays in which students are required to ask and answer questions will provide useful practice. Such role plays should focus on everyday language and situations and involve questions about daily activities and familiar experiences, or feature exchanging information about such things as charges and opening times of, for example, a local sports centre.

- Practising for the Cambridge English: Key Speaking component will help students prepare for possible real-life situations. This will encourage students to use spoken language, increase their confidence in their language ability and help them develop a positive attitude towards the language learning process.

By part

PART 1

- This takes 5 to 6 minutes. In this part, each candidate interacts with the interlocutor, using the language normally associated with meeting people for the first time: giving factual information of a personal kind, for example, name, place of origin, occupation, family, etc. Candidates are also expected to be able to talk about their daily life, interests, likes, etc.

PART 2

- This takes 3 to 4 minutes. In this part, the two candidates interact with each other. This involves asking and answering questions about factual information of a non-personal kind. Prompt cards are used to stimulate questions and answers which will be related to daily life, leisure activities and social life (including references to places, times, services, where to go, how to get there, what to eat, etc.).
Part 2 3 - 4 minutes (Prompt card activity)

Prompt cards are used to stimulate questions and answers of a non-personal kind. The interlocutor reads out instructions and gives a question card to one candidate and an answer card to the other. After the candidates have asked and answered questions, they change roles, as in the example below.

Example

The interlocutor reads out these instructions and gives a question card to Candidate B and an answer card to Candidate A.

Candidate A, here is some information about a museum.
Candidate B, you don't know anything about the museum, so ask A some questions about it. Now B, ask A your questions about the museum and A, you answer them.

Candidate A - your answers.  Candidate B - your questions.

There is a variety of acceptable questions which may be produced using this material. For example:

What can I see at the museum?
Is it open at the weekend?
How much is a student ticket?
Is there a car park?
Can I buy a postcard there?

The examiner will stop the interaction after 4 or 5 questions have been asked and answered. A different set of prompt cards is given out, so that Candidate A has the opportunity to ask questions and Candidate B to answer them. In this example, the questions are about a bookshop.

Candidate B, here is some information about a bookshop.
Candidate A, you don't know anything about the bookshop, so ask B some questions about it. Now A, ask B your questions about the bookshop and B, you answer them.

Candidate B - your answers.  Candidate A - your questions.

Assessment of Speaking

Examiners and marking

The quality assurance of Speaking Examiners (SEs) is managed by Team Leaders (TLs). TLs ensure all examiners successfully complete examiner training and regular certification of procedure and assessment before they examine. TLs are in turn responsible to a Professional Support Leader (PSL) who is the professional representative of Cambridge ESOL for the Speaking tests in a given country or region.

Annual examiner certification involves attendance at a face-to-face meeting to focus on and discuss assessment and procedure, followed by the marking of sample speaking tests in an online environment. Examiners must complete standardisation of assessment for all relevant levels each year and are regularly monitored during live testing sessions.

Assessment scales

Throughout the test candidates are assessed on their own individual performance and not in relation to each other. They are awarded marks by two examiners: the assessor and the interlocutor. The assessor awards marks by applying performance descriptors from the analytical assessment scales for the following criteria:

- Grammar and Vocabulary
- Pronunciation
- Interactive Communication

The interlocutor awards a mark for Global Achievement using the Global Achievement scale.

Assessment for Cambridge English: Key is based on performance across all parts of the test, and is achieved by applying the relevant descriptors in the assessment scales. The assessment scales for Cambridge English: Key (shown on page 34) are extracted from the overall Speaking scales on page 35.
Cambridge English: Key Speaking Examiners use a more detailed version of the following assessment scales, extracted from the overall Speaking scales on page 35.

Cambridge ESOL
Speaking Assessment

Glossary of terms

1. GENERAL

Conveying basic meaning: the ability of candidates to get their message across to their listeners, despite possible inaccuracies in the structure and/or delivery of the message.

Situations and topics

- Everyday situations: situations that candidates come across in their everyday lives, e.g. having a meal, asking for information, shopping, going out with friends or family, travelling to school or work, taking part in leisure activities. A Cambridge English: Key (KET) task that requires candidates to exchange details about a store’s opening hours exemplifies an everyday situation.
- Familiar topics: topics about which candidates can be expected to have some knowledge or personal experience. Cambridge English: First (FCE) tasks that require candidates to talk about what people like to do on holiday, or what it is like to do different jobs, exemplify familiar topics.
- Unfamiliar topics: topics which candidates would not be expected to have much personal experience of. Cambridge English: Advanced (CAE) tasks that require candidates to speculate about what people in the world today only care about themselves, or the kinds of problems that having a lot of money can cause, exemplify unfamiliar topics.
- Abstract topics: topics which include ideas rather than concrete situations or events. Cambridge English: Proficiency (CPE) tasks that require candidates to discuss how far the development of our civilisation has been affected by chance discoveries or events, exemplify abstract topics.

Utterance

- Utterance: people generally write in sentences and they speak in utterances. An utterance may be as short as a word or phrase, or a longer stretch of language.

2. GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY

Appropriacy of vocabulary: the use of words and phrases that fit the context of the given task. For example, in the utterance I’m very sensible to noise, the word sensible is inappropriate as the word should be sensitive. Another example would be Today’s big snow makes getting around the city difficult. The phrase getting around is well suited to this situation. However, big snow is inappropriate as big and snow are not used together. Heavy snow would be appropriate.

Flexibility: the ability of candidates to adapt the language they use in order to give emphasis, to differentiate according to the context, and to eliminate ambiguity. Examples of this would be reformulating and paraphrasing ideas.

Grammatical control: the ability to consistently use grammar accurately and appropriately to convey intended meaning.

Where language specifications are provided at lower levels (as in Cambridge English: Key (KET) and Cambridge English: Preliminary (PET)), candidates may have control of only the simplest exponents of the listed forms.

Attempts at control: sporadic and inconsistent use of accurate and appropriate grammatical forms. For example, the inconsistent use of one form in terms of structure or meaning, the production of one part of a complex form incorrectly or the use of some complex forms correctly and some incorrectly.

Spoken language often involves false starts, incomplete utterances, ellipsis and reformulation. Where communication is achieved, such features are not penalised.

3. DISCOURSE MANAGEMENT

Coherence and cohesion: coherence and cohesion are difficult to separate in discourse. Broadly speaking, coherence refers to a clear and logical stretch of speech which can be easily followed by a listener. Cohesion refers to a stretch of speech which is unified and structurally organised.

Coherence and cohesion can be achieved in a variety of ways, including with the use of cohesive devices, related vocabulary, grammar and discourse markers.

Cohesive devices: words or phrases which indicate relationships between utterances, e.g. addition (and, in addition, moreover); consequence (so, therefore, as a result); order of information (first, second, next, finally).

At higher levels, candidates should be able to provide cohesion not just with basic cohesive devices (e.g. and, but, or, then, finally) but also with more sophisticated devices (e.g. therefore, moreover, as a result, in addition, however, on the other hand).

Related vocabulary: the use of several items from the same lexical set, e.g. freight, station, platform, cargo or study, learn, revise.

Grammatical devices: essentially the use of reference pronouns (e.g. it, this, one) and articles (e.g. There are two women in the picture. The one on the right . . .).

Discourse markers: words or phrases which are primarily used in spoken language to add meaning to the interaction, e.g. you know, you see, actually, basically, I mean, well, anyway, like.

Extent/extended stretches of language: the amount of language produced by a candidate which should be appropriate to the task.

Long turn tasks require longer stretches of language, whereas tasks which involve discussion or answering questions could require shorter and extended responses.

Relevance: a contribution that is related to the task and not about something completely different.

Repetition: repeating the same idea instead of introducing new ideas to develop the topic.
4. PRONUNCIATION

Intelligible

Intelligible: a contribution which can generally be understood by a non-EFL/ESOL specialist, even if the speaker has a strong or unfamiliar accent.

Phonological features

Phonological features include the pronunciation of individual sounds, word and sentence stress and intonation.

Individual sounds are:

- Pronounced vowels, e.g. the /æ/ in cat or the /e/ in bed
- Diphthongs, when two vowels are rolled together to produce one sound, e.g. the /ɔɪ/ in host or the /eɪ/ in hate
- Consonants, e.g. the /k/ in cut or the /ʃ/ in fish.

Stress: the emphasis laid on a syllable or word. Words of two or more syllables have one syllable which stands out from the rest because it is pronounced more loudly and clearly, and is longer than the others, e.g. imPORtant. Word stress can also distinguish between words, e.g. proTEST vs PROtest. In sentences, stress can be used to indicate important meaning, e.g. Why is that one important? versus Why is THAT one important?

Intonation: the way the voice rises and falls, e.g. to convey the speaker’s mood, to support meaning or to indicate new information.

5. INTERACTIVE COMMUNICATION

Development of the interaction

Development of the interaction: actively developing the conversation, e.g. by saying more than the minimum in response to the written or visual stimulus, or to something the other candidate/interlocutor has said, or by proactively involving the other candidate with a suggestion or question about further developing the topic (e.g. What about bringing a camera for the holiday? or Why’s that?).

Initiating and Responding

Initiating: starting a new turn by introducing a new idea or a new development of the current topic.

Responding: replying or reacting to what the other candidate or the interlocutor has said.

Prompting and Supporting

Prompting: instances when the interlocutor repeats, or uses a backup prompt or gesture in order to get the candidate to respond or make a further contribution.

Supporting: instances when one candidate helps another candidate, e.g. by providing a word they are looking for during a discussion activity, or helping them develop an idea.

Turn and Simple exchange

Turn: everything a person says before someone else speaks.

Simple exchange: a brief interaction which typically involves two turns in the form of an initiation and a response, e.g. question-answer, suggestion-agreement.
